SANTA CLAUS COMING TOMORROW

Marion in Path of Sleet Storm

STREETS IN CITY COVERED WITH SHEET OF ICE

No Serious Accidents Reported in Marion Despite Treacherous Footing

MANY CARS DITCHED

Temperature Drops to 13 Degrees Early Today; Moderating Weather Forecast

Automobiles and pedestrians coasted over the ice covered streets and sidewalks of Marion yesterday, but through sheer skill or dumb luck most of them negotiated the treacherous highways safely. Not a single serious accident was reported in Marion.

There were many machines in trouble on the highways of the county, and in surrounding cities some reports gave a large number of automobiles damaged in accidents. But there were no accidents in which any one was killed or even seriously hurt.

Rain freezes. It fell Saturday night, and the motorist who ventured out that night, yesterday and last night used all caution. The extreme slipperiness of the streets and sidewalks was warning enough, evident, and most of those venturing out took no chances whether walking or driving.

J. M. Han, Postmaster, was at his home today receiving from the office of a fall in the Rocking Valley yards this morning. He slipped and struck his head on the ice, slipping cuts and bruises. His body was also bruised in the fall.

No Wire Damage

Wires of both the telephone and light companies rode through the storm of Saturday night and yesterday without material damage. All wires were covered with ice, but few of them went down. Lack of high winds with the storm helped the telephone and light lines to some extent.

Rising temperature today brought promise of the ice disappearing before tomorrow night, from the weather man.

Healthiest!

Warren Griffen, 15, Wins Title at Chicago Live-stock Exposition

Chicago, Dec. 6.—When boys' and girls' farm clubs met here for the International Livestock Exposition, Warren Griffen, 15-year-old farm lad from Oscar, Ky., was named as the nation's healthiest boy. He won the title in competition with champions from 16 other states.

Warren finished the eighth grade and is now in high school. He is a member of the 4-H club and is a member of the 4-H club and is a member of the 4-H club.

CONGRESS GIVES SMALL PROMISE OF DOING MUCH

House and Senate Not Likely To Pass Anything But Appropriation Bills

SEE POLITICAL SNIPING

Farm Relief, Tax Refund, Radio Control Measures Probably Sidetracked

Washington, Dec. 6.—Congress came back to work today—a "lame duck" Congress with only three months to live.

In the opinion of its leaders, the 12 weeks will be filled with political sniping, with battles royal over farm relief and tax reduction schemes and March 4 will roll around with little of major importance having been accomplished outside of the passage of the usual and necessary appropriation bills. Lame duck Congresses rarely accomplish much and few believe the Sixty-ninth will be an exception.

President Coolidge's suggestion for a tax refund of some $250,000,000 to payers of record apparently is doomed to an early death. The Democrats are almost solidly against it, and the Republicans are equally opposed to it. The Democrats have their hammers out for it. Under these circumstances it is well impossible to whip any kind of measure in shape that can be pushed through in the few weeks that can be devoted to it.

Tax Reduction Bill

The Democrats plan to propose a general tax reduction bill, but it is not likely that it will meet any better a reception. The Republicans will oppose the Democratic plan on general principles, and without Republican support the Democrats are helpless.

The fighting, nevertheless, will be fast and furious. It will hinge chiefly around the problem of what is to be done with the big Treasury surplus—variously estimated to be from $250,000,000 to $500,000,000. The lower figure is the Treasury's minimum estimate after the quarterly payment of income taxes on Dec. 15, and the larger figure represents a Democratic guess.

President Coolidge and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon propose to return this money to the taxpayers. The opposition contends that this would benefit only the big corporations, which have passed on their taxes to the ultimate consumers in the form of higher prices, and that to return the money now means an outright gift of little or no benefit to the average citizen.

A militant farm bloc will demand that at least $100,000,000 of this surplus be devoted to the creation of an organization to handle surplus farm products along the line suggested in the McNary-Hugan bill which was defeated last session by a narrow margin.

Reclamation Projects

There is a western contingent of the farm bloc.

MRS. FRANCES HALL ONCE AGAIN HAPPY FOLLOWING VERDICT

Fall, Sinclair To Stand Trial, Court Decrees

Result of Former Cabinet Officer's Lease of Teapot Dome Oil Reserve

Washington, Dec. 6.—Another conspiracy trial, growing out of the "oil scandal," was resumed today when the Supreme Court held that ex-Secretary of the Interior, Albert B. Fall, and Harry E. Sinclair must stand trial on the indictment growing out of Fall's lease of Teapot Dome to Sinclair.

Fall is now on trial for conspiracy in connection with the lease of the Teapot Dome oil reserve to Edward L. Doheny. Today's decision means that as soon as the present trial is ended, Fall in all probability will be brought to trial again with Sinclair.

The decision upheld the lower court, which also had sustained the validity of the indictment against the ex-secretary and Sinclair.

Fall and Sinclair charged the Federal court of Colorado, federal court judge in holding the Fall action void, prohibited the appeal to the District Court, was constitutional. This act of Columbia Court of Appeals from any interdictory order in a criminal action.

The net, passed after Fall and Sinclair were indicted, caused dismissal of Fall and Sinclair's appeal.

The effect of this was to hold the indictment.

Fall and Sinclair alleged that Congress had invaded the powers of the judiciary by passing the Walsh act.

FALL HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH LEASE, CLAIM

Washington, Dec. 6.—Ex-Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall had nothing to do with arranging the government's lease with E. L. Doheny for oil storage facilities at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, Captain J. K. Robinson, U. S. N., retired, told the jury at the Fall-Doheny conspiracy trial today.

The actual negotiations were carried on chiefly by subordinates in the navy and interior departments, Robinson said.

SEVEN DEAD IN NEW YORK CITY FROM BLIZZARD

Storm Sweeps Metropolis and Atlantic Seaboard From Delaware Capes to Maine

WIDESPREAD SUFFERING

All Shipping Is Demoralized as Gale Rolls Up Huge Waves at Sea

Washington, Dec. 6.—The Weather Bureau today issued a warning that a disturbance of considerable intensity south of Nova Scotia is moving northward and will cause strong north and north-west winds along the Atlantic seaboard between Eastport, Maine and Sandy Hook, N. Y. This afternoon and tonight.

New York, Dec. 6.—Seven persons, at least, are dead and much discomfort was caused by an unexpected snow blizzard that swept New York City and the Atlantic seaboard from the Delaware Capes to Maine.

Weather predictions for today are cloudy with the end of the snow not yet in sight.

The snow attained a depth of seven inches—state deers for this time of the year since 1880.

The fall was general, extending from the Delaware breakwater to Maine, and as far inland as Ohio.

Widespread Suffering

Because of the week-end holiday, business was much less disrupted by the storm than would otherwise have been the case had it occurred during the week. Transportation and communication companies were given an opportunity on Sunday to put animals of emergency workers in the task of clearing the lines for the opening of business today.

Widespread suffering was caused. In the metropolitan district two lives and many were injured as a result of the storm. Reports from the outlying districts were not complete. First, always, the companions of cars and automobiles in temperature, were reported in various cities.

The gale rolled up huge waves at sea, and many boats were wrecked.

Heavy Snowfall

In northern New York state, the storm was more severe than in the metropolitan section. A snow fall from 12 to 18 inches was reported in Buffalo.

Jolly Old St. Nick and Reindeer Will Make First Visit

Children and Grownups in City and County Will Join in Marion's First Community Christmas Celebration; All Schools To Dismiss

THOUSANDS EXPECTED TO PARTICIPATE IN PARTY

Activities Will Center Around Huge Electrically-Lighted Christmas Tree at Central Junior High School Grounds; Program Completed for Occasion

SANTA CLAUS will be in Marion tomorrow. This famous man will travel over Marion streets, talk to the children who will flock around him in thousands, ask them whether or not they have been good boys and girls, and then when the community celebration is over Tuesday night, will depart on his journey to the south, not to return until he passes so far, through here on Christmas eve, on his long journey back to his home in the north.

Schools throughout Marion County will be closed tomorrow at noon and children of every section will stream into Marion to greet Santa Claus, who never before has stopped in Marion in the day time to meet the children of the city and county.

It will be a day of days for Marion County youngsters, which they have waited ever since they were nearly two weeks ago, when the Chamber of Commerce announced that Santa Claus had agreed to stop here for a day.

"Santa Claus is coming tomorrow," that will be on the lips of every Marion County child tonight. And the happiness that comes from the joy in children's hearts over the visit of Santa Claus will be reflected in the heart of every parent.

There is no one too old to enter into the spirit of Christmas, and while the children are thrilling at the sight of Santa Claus before their very eyes, the grownups should be thrilling to the enthusiasm of community spirit which will pervade Marion tomorrow.

Children's Party

Until late tomorrow afternoon the children of Marion and the county are entitled exclusively to the privilege of Santa Claus' company. While there will be a few grownups present to manage things, the adults are not invited, for the children will have full sway, and they will make the most of it.

After the children have feasted their eyes on Santa Claus and have secured the grownups will have their chance. There will be a community Christmas tree at the Central Junior High grounds, Center and Oakdale. Around this tree will gather the residents of Marion, to hold the first community celebration of the kind ever held here—one which will mark itself in their memory. Led by the Marion Club, and by members of the church choir of the city, a group of Marion County school children, from both city and county schools, will sing Christmas carols, the words of which are familiar to everyone.

Santa Claus himself, if he walked in to Marion, would be enough to satisfy most of the youngsters. But he is bringing with him two groups that will make the hearts of Marion County children skip a beat, with excitement, and their eyes open wide in wonder.

Reindeer Coming

For Santa Claus will drive his famous reindeer, which carry him all over the world, right into Marion, and they will be here tomorrow.

DEMOCRATS FAIL

Washington, Dec. 6.—The Democrats made an anticlimactic effort today to block the seating of Senator-elect Arthur H. Gould, Republican, of Maine, because of charges that he participated in the alleged firing of a Canadian public official.

DISAPPEARANCE OF VIRGEN BOY STILL UNSOLVED

Sheriff Deal and Deputies Continue Daily Patrol of Crystal Lake

More than three days have elapsed since Carlton Virgen, 15, is supposed to have committed suicide by plunging into Crystal Lake, north of the city, and the mystery surrounding his disappearance remains unsolved.

Still working on the theory that young Virgen actually ended his life by drowning, Sheriff James A. Deal and deputies are continuing their daily patrol on the surface of the lake in rowboats in search of the body. Thus far, no trace of the alleged suicide has been found and investigation along other lines has also failed to yield results.

Although the boy's automobile was found parked on a driveway near Crystal Lake early Friday morning with a note that was unmistakably in his handwriting stating that it was "purely a suicide act," rumors that he may be alive and that this method possibly was used to deceive authorities and relatives, have led to inquiries being made at the homes of members of the Virgen family in other localities. Response to messages sent to these places, however, have disclosed no trace of the boy. No word has been received, as yet, from Dr. John E. Virgen, an uncle living in New York City.

"No Fault Play"

Possibility that young Virgen may be a victim of foul play is not even faintly considered by either city or county police, who say that there are no circumstances to create any suspicion along this line.

Mrs. Clementine Virgen, stepmother of the boy, who lived with him at Meeker prior to their moving to the Miami Lakes, the day before he disappeared, can furnish no information regarding the case nor the motive back of it. She and her stepson had lived together since the sudden death of his father, Howard Virgen, a year ago, and their relationship was absolutely harmonious, friends and relatives say.

Mrs. Virgen's affection for the boy is as strong as that of a mother. She had arranged for moving their home from Meeker to Marion solely to assist him in completing his course of study at Marion Business College and in order that he might be near his future place of employment.

Unusually Quiet

The boy was unusually quiet and uncommunicative, especially since the disappearance.

QUEEN MARIE TAKES UP REINS OF GOVERNMENT

King Ferdinand Reported Improved in Bulletin Issued by Six Physicians

Bucharest, Dec. 6.—King Ferdinand and Queen Marie, who were in the city, underwent an operation today, which was successful.

The operation upon the king was to relieve a hemorrhoidal condition. It was stated.

An official communique stated that the operation "had the best results" and that the king was making an excellent recovery.

Bucharest, Dec. 6.—Queen Marie of Roumania, back home after her eventful American tour, lost no time today in taking up the reins of government.

The exiled royal family is keeping aloof in Cotroneanu Palace, but the queen broke the silence which she had maintained since landing at Cherbourg by sending a message of thanks to the Roumanians now in America.

An official bulletin issued today by six physicians attending King Ferdinand declared the king's health has improved, so much that he is in no immediate danger.

The queen today attended a meeting of the committee which controls Roumanian charities, through which Queen Marie is personally caring for the welfare of her poor subjects during the winter. She gave for the Roumanian poor $5,000 which was given her by Roumanian-Americans.

STOLEN AUTO WRECKED ON UPPER SANDUSKY-PK

Come to Grief Shortly After Taking Car from Parking Place

NATIONS LEAGUE SESSION OPENS IN GENEVA TODAY

Geneva, Dec. 6.—The session of the League of Nations council opened at 11 o'clock today with the foreign ministers of seven countries present.

M. Vandervelde, Belgian foreign minister, presided.

During the preliminary private session for drawing up the agenda for the session, Foreign Minister Stresemann, of Germany, gave no indication that he would object to the league's procedure for controlling German armaments, which had been decided upon by the council at its 1924 session.

HOLLYWOOD GIRL IS RESCUED FROM SEINE

Paris, Dec. 6.—Miss Bessie Kenner, 25, of Hollywood, Cal., who is secretary to Frank Harris, was rescued from the Seine today.

Police claim that Miss Kenner jumped into the river, but friends of the woman deny this. They state that she had been drinking and had become drunk and that today, while walking along the river banks near the Louvre she accidentally fell into the water. Miss Kenner has recovered from the shock due to her sudden and cold immersion.

CAN PADLOCK ANYWAY

Washington, Dec. 6.—An official on a liquor charge does not bar the federal government from taking "lockdown" proceedings against the defendants in the case of the Supreme Court decision today in the appeal of Thomas and Vincent Murphy, of New Jersey.

COOLIDGE TALKS RADIO TROUBLE AT BREAKFAST

President Personally Intervenes in Confusion Prevailing at Opening of Congress

Washington, Dec. 6.—President Coolidge personally intervened today in the confusion that prevails at the opening of congress over radio legislation.

He gathered at the White House breakfast table Senators McLean, of Connecticut; Wadsworth, of New York; Edge of New Jersey, and Odell, of Nevada; Representatives French, of Ohio; White, of Maine; Strong, of Kansas; and Gibson, of Vermont, and for more than an hour discussed with them ways and means of breaking the deadlock that exists between the house and senate over whether Secretary of Commerce Hoover or an independent bureau should be vested with regulatory powers over radio.

Indications are that a compromise will be reached.

A "radio stop-gap" resolution prohibiting issuance of additional licenses until congress has enacted permanent legislation, was introduced in the house by Representative White, Republican, of Maine, author of the White radio bill.

SWEDISH NIGHTINGALE TAKES DOSE OF POISON

Lydia Lindgren Attempts Suicide in Boston Hotel; Will Recover, Belief

Boston, Dec. 6.—Lydia Lindgren, a Swedish opera star, known as the "Swedish nightingale," whose two great fears have been death and darkness, swallowed a dose of poison in her suite at the fashionable Capotey Plaza Hotel early today.

Then, gathering her baggage and personal papers together, she telephoned for a taxi.

Emergency treatment administered at City Hospital by Dr. Robert Coleman, promptly saved the life of the famous songbird.

No reason was given for her taking the poison.

Paul Quire, operatic tenor, husband of the 37-year-old "nightingale," was notified of his wife's plight. He was found at Hotel St. Andrew, New York.

One of the men took a Bible from his traveling bag so follow his nightly custom of reading passage from the Scriptures before retiring. His roommate, however, became interested and a conversation which followed resulted in both of the Gideons' movement. Since that time the fraternity has become national in scope and through its efforts, practically all hotel rooms in the country are supplied with Bibles.

ERIE BABY OUTCHAMPS JERSEY'S ONE-YEAR-OLD

Erie, Pa., Dec. 6.—The "champion baby" reported from a small New Jersey town recently has been "outchampioned" by one-year-old Helen Rowell by three teeth.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Rowell boast today that their Helen has sixteen teeth. A record, it is said, for a child that age. The New Jersey tot had sixteen teeth at that age.

Little Helen had two teeth when two months old and eight at five months. Helen thrived on cutting teeth and today she is said by physicians to be one of the most perfect and healthiest babies in Erie. She now weighs 30 pounds and at birth she tipped the scales at 10 pounds, her parents proudly remarked.

Republican Leader is in Doubt About Keeping Present Senators in Line

Washington Correspondent To See Robinson, Dem. Probable Accomplishments of National Legislature This Session; And, He Isn't Anxious To Tell

SEN. D. C. CURTIS, "How the regulars have been heading on the former's heels in anticipation of opening day."

The odds are that they won't. A senator who has gone just a little bit wrong, to the extent of a minor misdemeanor or two, may be all right at heart, but the consensus is that character is not a virtue.

TRIBUTE PAID DEAD BY LOCAL LODGE OF ELKS

C. J. Bannick, Cleveland, Delivers Annual Memorial Address at Grand Theater

Universal brotherhood, which causes men to lay aside differences of opinion regarding creed, politics and other controversial matters and brings them together in a mutual effort to brighten life and lighten burdens for one another and for the world in general, was portrayed as the greatest object of the order of Elks in C. J. Bannick, of Cleveland, in his address at the annual memorial services of Marion Lodge, No. 222, held at the Grand Theater, Sunday night.

The twin doctrines of forgetfulness and of remembrance, which teach that the faults of men should be forgotten, and their virtues borne in mind, were pointed out as basic principles of the order of Elks which should be generally observed.

The ritual and principles of Elksdom, Mr. Bannick told his audience, are based upon "practical Christianity," and he declared that there is not enough Christianity of this type in existence. There is too much "church Christianity," he declared, and not enough in every day life in business and in social activities.

Mr. Bannick who is a practicing attorney in Cleveland and is also dean of Spencian College, a law school, gave one of his most eloquent and forceful addresses ever heard at an Elks Memorial service here. It even surpassed, in the opinion of those who heard him, the impressive discourse given by him at the services here last year, and which resulted in his being invited to return as the speaker for the services last night.

The ceremonies, held in accordance with a rule of the Order of Elks which gives the first Sunday of December as the date on which each lodge shall honor the memory of departed members, were impressive throughout. An outstanding feature was the lodge ritualistic service, conducted by the officers, including Exalted Ruler Grant E. Mouser, Jr., who presided during the entire program. Jay Vaughan, esteemed lodge knight, E. E. Pretzmann, esteemed lodge knight, T. A. O'Leary, esteemed lodge knight, Frank Wiedenmeyer, lodge knight, John M. Bridg, secretary and James Wark, chaplain.

Patton Gives Eulogy
Carter M. Patton, local attorney, delivered the eulogy, a tribute to the memory of deceased members of Marion Lodge, in which he said that a lasting memorial can be established for those who have been claimed by death only by keeping alive the principles of brotherhood and good will that they were taught as Elks.

W. E. Orant, principal of the Central Junior High School, contributed two vocal solos, singing "Where All Is Right" and "Abide with Me."

Music by Dowler's Dowler's orchestra, directed by William Dowler, organist of the lodge, played several numbers, including a half-hour prelude from 7:30 until 8 o'clock, when the memorial program opened.

The services closed with the audience singing "Auld Lang Syne" universally adopted as the lodge anthem.

Mr. Bannick took as his subject, "Know Your Order Better," and while it was based on a discussion of the fundamental principles of the order, charity, justice, brotherly love, fidelity and patriotism, it was of marked interest to all persons in the audience, whether Elks or non-Elks.

HOME OF ANCIENT MAYAS BELIEVED FOUND IN OREGON

SEATTLE, Dec. 6.—Discovery of a Mayan pyramid of masonry in eastern Oregon, the first of this type in the United States, has led to the belief that the home of the ancient Mayas, strange cultured prehistoric race who built large cities and flourished in Yucatan before the birth of Christ.

Excavations of the pyramid, which was found in a field near the town of La Grange, Oregon, have revealed that it was built by the Mayas, a race of people who lived in the region of the Colorado river, and who were the first to build a pyramid in the United States.

Since no jade source ever has been discovered in the United States, it is believed that the jade which was used in the construction of the pyramid was brought from the Mayas, a race of people who lived in the region of the Colorado river, and who were the first to build a pyramid in the United States.

One estimate places at $700,000 the value of the jade which was used in the construction of the pyramid, which is on the basis of the fact that jade is one of the most valuable stones in the world.

Hawk Drops Snake on Line, Three Towns Go Dark

When the towns went out suddenly and left three Iowa towns in darkness, the power and light company restored service almost immediately by putting the load on another generating station. Then the trouble came got busy and found a two-and-a-half-foot snake done to a turn stretched across a high tension transmission line. As the wires were forty feet in the air, it is not likely that the snake climbed the pole. The linemen guessed that the reptile was dropped on the line by a hawk.

Having in mind the proceedings during a recent murder trial, we are impressed by the thought that what New Jersey needs about as much as anything else, if not more, is revision of her rules of practice and court procedure to cut out four-fifths on the part of attorneys, fake stuff and a very cheap imitation of vaudiville.

A Quarter of a Century Ago.

Twenty-two years ago today Guglielmo Marconi and two assistants arrived at St. Johns to make the first attempt worthy the name to transmit radio messages across the Atlantic. The party installed their receiving instruments in the old barracks on Signal Hill. Four days later they sent up a hexagonal kite to support the antenna high in the air, but it broke away and was carried out to sea. Two days later they sent up the wire attached to a fourteen-foot balloon, which suffered the same fate as the kite. Two days later, on the morning of December 12, a second kite was sent up and it held. At noon that day—December 12, 1901—Marconi tuned for the wave length of the Polhu station over 2,000 miles away at the southwest tip of England and caught the three dots of the Morse code representing the letter S. The Polhu station having been instructed to send the letter S from 10:30 in the morning till 2:30 in the afternoon. The experimentation was continued for over a week and it was not until the second Monday after the first signal was heard that the brilliant young Italian—he was but twenty-seven at the time—gave a statement to the press announcing the result of his experiment.

Wireless telegraphy had been known for some years before. It was known, or at least the transmission of messages without wires was known, here in Marion over forty years ago, but at that time it went by the name of induction. Frequently messages passing over the Erie and Big Four lines could be read over both. A message on the Big Four would work the receivers in the Erie station and Erie messages would work those of the Big Four when the old Erie and Big Four stations were located east of State street, the lines then, as now, being run on the rights-of-way which run side by side from Gall to this city. But the signal received at noon twenty-five years ago next Sunday was the first to come across the Atlantic and be heard here.

At that time it was the general impression that the transmission of messages through space without the use of wires was a clever scientific achievement, but that it was hardly probable that it could have much practical value for great distances.

The world has been moving along in the electrical field during the past quarter of a century. We are now using the wireless for commercial business across the Atlantic. It is being used profitably at greater distances by vessels at sea. Marconi heard the one letter only at intervals under the most favorable circumstances, but today full musical programs are being exchanged between the Old World and the New. Not only this, but pictures are now being sent by wireless across the ocean and we are telephoning by wireless over such great distances that it can be but a matter of a short time when we will have a commercial telephone service across the sea, telephone communication between this country and Europe having been established upon several occasions for experimental purposes.

Rash indeed would be one who would attempt to define the limits of the wireless.

Wants of One State Department.

It can hardly be held that the state agricultural department is overly modest in its request for funds with which to operate for the eighteen months between July 1, 1927, and December 31, 1928. The amount for which it asks is $1,455,000 in excess of the legislative appropriations made for it for the present twenty-four-month period, which is proportionally $2,145,000 in excess of, or nearly double, the appropriation of $2,791,414 for the two-year period. Possibly the board felt that its wants were so great that it might be the part of wisdom to ask for an appropriation for eighteen months only instead of two years.

The comparison between the eighteen-month period and the two-year period is admittedly sufficiently marked to attract attention without considering what will be asked for the six months following December 21, 1928.

Of this immense total of $1,455,155 sought by the agricultural department, the budget plans an expenditure of $1,500,000 for tubercular cattle, an amount $325,000 in excess of the amount appropriated for the present two-year period. The department asks for $200,000 to fight the cornborer, an amount $100,000 in excess of the present two-year appropriation. The fish and game division wants $651,000 for the coming eighteen-month period, which is $27,000 less than it received for the present twenty-four month period, but proportionally $130,000 more.

And now we come to the desired appropriations for the state fairground and the two state fairs to be held within the coming period. The appropriation for repairs on the fairground for the present period was $15,000, which was augmented $20,000 by an emergency appropriation. The department feels that even this augmented appropriation was far too small, and it figures that it can use for repairs in eighteen months the sum of $100,000. New buildings on the fairground desired will cost $400,000 more than the present appropriation of $200,000. The appropriation asked for this purpose is $700,000. And lastly it is laid out that it will take at least $500,000 to conduct two eight-day fairs, which figure will be cut to $450,000 if six-day fairs are held.

The latter figure is an increase of $10,000 over the appropriation of $110,000 for the past two fairs and the former an increase of $30,000. Let us see what the state fair is to cost us for eighteen months beginning July 1, 1927, for it is reasonable that the demand for new buildings will continue indefinitely and hence building expenditures are to be considered. Here are the interesting figures: repairs, $100,000; new buildings, $700,000; expense of conducting fairs, $500,000; total, $1,300,000.

Really, it begins to dawn upon us that our state fair is something of a luxury. We wonder how many of our readers were acquainted with its ever-increasing cost. We are not uttering complaint. We are simply putting the figures before them as presented in the budget. We believe that the occasional presentation of figures such as these will give our readers a better idea of the increasing cost of government. It is up to them and the other citizens of Ohio to decide whether they are getting adequate return.

Remarking that there are a lot of habits in which a boy should not be encouraged, the Canton News says: "But the habit of carrying out the ashes is not one of them." Our personal conviction is that it's going to take an awful lot of encouragement to instill a habit like that.

That New York newspaper may figure that the Hal-Mills murder trial was worth all its questionable bit of journalistic enterprise cost it, but there are a lot of New Jersey people who are beginning to suspect that the prosecution wasn't worth all it cost them.

"Mexico is building a school a day," says a news item. In years past that might have indicated a trend toward constructive education and progress, but it does not today. It may mean additional facilities for the spreading of communism, and we do not wish this to be construed as applying only to Mexico.

The most disturbing phase of the finding of fourteen Long Island railroad crossing watchmen asleep at their posts is that reliance upon them actually added materially to the risks run by motor and other traffic. Instead of safety, they drew pay and slept to add to the danger.

"Synthetic gin," says the Washington Star, "is a feature of various occasions which leaves it a matter of doubt whether they are to be featured by the society editor or the police reporter." And very often it is the case that the fellow who writes the obituaries beats both of 'em to it.

Mrs. Catherine de Nino, sixteen, has entered a plea to first-degree manslaughter for having shot to death in New York City Luigi Pino, who outraged her when she was a girl of fourteen and then tried to blackmail her husband out of money as the price of his silence. Few of us care to uphold murder, but there will be rather general agreement that the dead man didn't get any more than he deserved.

"While a pint for every ten days might fill ordinary requirements," remarked the fellow who lives next door on the way down town this morning, "think of the hardship it would prove to our invalids and sick people should both the Christmas and New Year's celebrations fall within the same ten days."

AND WILL YOU NEVER forget the walks we took Along those woodways overgrown with fern?
The world was like a colored picture book,
A tale to marvel at, a page to turn.
But what I read lay deeper than the mere Autumnal text of maple and of beech—
Sorrows beyond the aging of a year.
To sacred for the platitudes of speech.
You gave me something of yourself, a leaf
Torn from the heart's yearn archives—all
The old
Enduring symbols of remembered grief.
Touching your hand, I found that it was cold.
What could I say when you yourself had turned Across that bitter chronicle, "The End?"

Colds Menace to Public Health.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

In a clearer sense to all the pupils, the New York City superintendent of schools, William J. O'Shea, has given some very wise advice. This is what he said:

"Great care should be used to prevent the spread of acute colds, since they are prevalent during fall and winter months. An acute cold should be viewed as a serious contagious disease. Any child showing signs of a cold, such as coughing or sneezing, should be separated from the rest of the class. 'All children should be instructed or trained' to continue, making reference to the law against expectorating in public schools. 'We observe this law. It might well also prohibit sneezing or coughing into the air. Teachers should not permit these unsanitary acts on the part of the pupils.'"

The circular concludes, "In connection with the daily morning hygiene inspection, children should be taught to carry handkerchiefs and to use them when coughing or sneezing. Prompt and united action on the part of the teacher will materially limit the spread of acute colds, which are the most common cause of absence from school during the winter months."

It is too bad that we accept colds so easily. One of the most common sayings when you ask a friend how he feels, is the reply: "Oh, all right, except for a little cold."

Nobody is all right if he has "a little cold" or a big one. An infection like this takes the way for a more serious infection. Many a person has been so debilitated by a cold that he has not been able to resist the germs of pneumonia.

It is not at all uncommon for a hard cold to be followed by infection with the germs of tuberculosis. Almost always the disease can be traced back to a neglected or persistent cold.

I do not mean, of course, that the same germ which will cause a cold will also cause tuberculosis. But when the system is weakened from the effects of a hard cold the chances are so increased that any one of the tuberculosis or serious disease-producing germs may find its way into the system.

Our social disregard of the common cold is amazing. In a large office where there are numbers of persons employed, one will come in with a cold and, by carelessness on his part, will spread the germ to the others in the office. In a school, everybody in that establishment is coughing and sneezing, and all the colds can be traced back to the first one.

The cold must be considered as an infectious, contagious disease, and the time will come when the sufferer from a cold will be isolated just as the sufferers from other contagious diseases are isolated today.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.
I. S. Q.—Do you advise me for seducing?
A.—Not being at all familiar with this preparation, I am unable to advise you concerning same. If you restrict your diet, cutting down on sugar, starches and coffee, and have the proper exercise, you will be able to reduce. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

I. S. Q.—What should be done for an anemic condition? What foods should be eaten?
A.—Build up the general health and in this way increase the blood supply. A good, well-balanced diet should be all that is necessary along these lines, including plenty of milk and eggs. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.—Copyright, 1926.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it can not be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care of this office.

Seasonable Reminders.

There is nothing on earth whiter than newly-fallen snow.

In the seventeenth century Puritan members of parliament refused to recognize Christmas by adjourning the house of commons.

Plum pudding and mince pie are old English dishes, served at Christmas to symbolize the rich offerings made by the "Wise Men" to the little Saviour.

There is an old superstition that nine holly leaves tied in a handkerchief with a knot and placed under the pillow on Christmas night will cause the sleeper to dream of his or her future wife or husband.

The modern Christmas tree can be traced back to the sixteenth century. It originated on the banks of the Rhine. Sixty years later the fir tree was used to carry gifts in celebration of Christmas all over the civilized world.

Some Questions of Interest Asked and Answered.
Q. Does the silver fox or any other species of fox mate for life? W. J. C.
A. The biological survey says that foxes when in the wild state were considered monogamous. However, when bred in captivity they are, in general, found to be polygamous.

Q. Is it proper for a stenographer to send a Christmas card to her employer? If so, should she send it Mr. and Mrs. although she does not know his wife? K. E. M.
A. Some authorities regard it as a little presuming for an office employee to send a Christmas card to her employer. If, however, this is done the greetings should be addressed to the employer and his wife.

Q. The mercury in our laboratory is very dirty. How may it be cleaned? F. D. K.
A. The bureau of standards says that a simple way to remove dirt from mercury is to shake the mercury vigorously with some cane sugar, after which the metal is filtered off through a pin hole in the bottom of a paper cone. The whole operation may be repeated if necessary. Instead of filtering through a pin hole the mercury may be squeezed through several thicknesses of cloth.

Q. Will milk take ink out of prints? R. R. T.
A. Prints of twenty-five years ago have such directions, but they would not apply today for the reason that milk is not what it was, nor is ink. Milk consumed in cities is freed from lactic bacteria which were once depended on to perform the necessary chemical action and ink today has multiplied into 150 varieties so that no general household directions can be considered safe to remove ink from fabrics. A spotter is required to determine a formula to apply to the removal of each type of ink, since a remedy for one might make another indelible.

Q. Are flower ornaments to continue popular this winter? T. M.
A. Fashion experts say they are. Large chifon and velvet or feather flowers are used for evening or formal afternoon wear. They are worn on the left or below the right shoulder. Small net fabric or colored crystal bouquiers are used for tailored wear.

Q. What is the best way to clean celluloid?
R. L.
A. To clean celluloid rub with a wooden cloth and a little tripol and polish with a clean wooden rag.

Q. What is the largest city in Florida? M. B.
A. The largest city in Florida is Jacksonville. In 1925 the population of Jacksonville was 95,450.

Q. Should georgette crepe after being washed be rinsed in hot or cold water? R. K.
A. Georgette crepe should always be rinsed in lukewarm water and wrung dry in a bath towel.

Q. Who named faville glass? F. W.
A. It was named by Tiffany who invented it in 1891.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

At a crowded corner the other day two children were waiting for a chance to cross. The little boy started over with his sister. He misjudged time and distance and saw a motor car coming close upon him. He stood at attention, straightened the car to stop and held up the line until he and his sister got over. Here was a presence of mind. It happened there was a driver who was willing to cooperate with children for the sake of life and safety. Too few motorists do cooperate.

Children can not be held responsible for their acts. They start out unthinkingly. Motorists must allow for this. Those who drive cars must do far better than go half way in an effort to keep the streets safe. The generation of children, coming up, is burning to be careful. Car drivers must do more than their part.

This industrial civilization under which we live has its practical way the days that the mind seems to be in front and the heart far back. Evidence of a rare combination of mind and heart are among the most hopeful of all present tendencies. We read, for example, that the General Motors corporation has taken out life insurance amounting to $100,000,000 on more than 100,000 employees. It applies to all persons who have worked for the General Motors three months or longer. In case of permanent disability it will pay out over a long period by the month.

Here is a corporation, enormous in its size and business, which feels that the cooperation of thousands of employees well taken care of and made happy is an investment worth millions. The officers of this corporation have taken not a necessary step, but a wise and humane step. It is a wonderful example of the power of union between mind and heart.

Even experts to wrong. A psychiatrist in Germany testifying to the case of a woman whose automobile had killed two persons, says the woman, though normal, is not responsible. "Women's nervous systems are such," he said, "that they can not react quickly and rationally in danger."

The jury, however in this case than the doctor, sent the woman to prison.

Even people who are not experts know that women do react sensibly in danger, probably as often as men. Women in an emergency, often rise to meet it with more courage and with more power of adjustment than men.

Philadelphia's exposition, a $20,000,000 failure, has taught that city and other cities a lesson. Philadelphia says they will build no more big shows. Other cities will do well to adopt similar resolutions.

The world has changed so much since 1893 when Chicago led the way with a mammoth world's fair, that no longer do great expositions attract. In this day of magnificent invention and widespread luxuries for the poor as well as rich, folks are thrill-proof. Good roads and cheap autos take them up and down the land constantly. They see no night of the dream for excitement. No place any more for world's fairs.

I thought I'd hear some good ones about right Scotchmen when I was over there, but they told me they were getting all their Scotch from New York. And in New York they told me the stuff was coming from somewhere out west. So when I got as far west as Nebraska I heard this one.

A Scotchman was in London, all dressed up, and he met some friend of his that he had known in Edinburgh.

"What brings you here, all in woolens?" says his friend.

"On my honeymoon," says the Scotchman.

"Good!" says the friend, reaching out a hand. "Congratulations! We'll have a drink on me, and then I want you to take me around to meet the bride."

"I'll take the drink real an' guid," says Sandy. "But I dinna think I kin gie ye a look at the bride."

"Why not? Jealous?"

"Naw, not that. But she's thame. I didna think I could weel afford to bring her on the honeymoon this time."—Copyright, 1926.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

New York, Dec. 6.—Diary of a day: To breakfast with Merle the editor, then afoot through the city, watching a fire in a Chinese laundry, and seating himself on the curb holding a sorry picture of despair.

Home and read in Watson's "Mag" fair reading nor do I think the his or people so interesting as the French. Agnes Shuts' new Boston dog, a black and white suggested calling him "Agnes," which I deemed good.

To a chop house and ate my fill of raw Bermuda onions and then I remembered I was going to a late party. And so did not need to go to two ladies Margaret Jeffries and Katherine the actress. So home to bed.

Those silk stockinged lads reared a ubiquitous valet at their elbow, however. There is one past city who is down the hall. All his life he has been massaged, barbered, dressed and bathed by others.

One evening a few weeks ago he was by a friend in B. V. d. despair, pacing the "Here it is" he waited. "I am not a reception to the queen at seven and I am down with lumbago."

He did not know apparently that the agency that provides for such emergencies supplying "part time" valets. There are numerous New Yorkers who can not get their valets to dress themselves. One is a wonder just what they would do in case of fire.

There are hot-house ladies too, who complete their toilette without maids, valets or dears.

Last night I sat near a group of writers belonging to the so-called destructionists. They confided the war on Babylon to the "Kaiser Lewis left off. They babble about "smug monotony of go-getters" and "Cheshire cat grin of religionists." Maps featuring stories of success were given a ha ha. There was a Brahmin in the number who seemed to represent everything he despised. He was a general sales manager in a Baptist church, and chuckled over his mid-western city, and tucked his neck in his collar. I also noticed, and looked on with twisted guest, he was permitted to pay a check without protest. And likely as not was the only one present with enough cash to do it.

I am entirely unaffected by the leonine javelins hurled at the institution and the other magazines with a bombastic tone. I know too many of the nice, neuritic boys to write them.

One of the most scathing denunciations ever read was by the discharged professor of a worthy institution. When his pay stopped he saw red.

Like many others, I have been caught in the web of those high priests of service. We are temporarily at least, are being conducted an orderly budget system. For four days I know what has become of every penny, can by looking at page forty-three tell you a quarter a day at compound interest will be in ten years and it is elegant. The child is only I have not been able to save a cent. And it seems silly to put down an error like this: Getting hose supporters fixed the rents.

Anyway, as Geo. M. Cohan used to say in his loafing days: "Boys, I'm on my first night—with $99,982 to go."—Copyright, 1926.

The court found that the evidence was not sufficient to sustain the verdicts against the defendants.

MILL-ST STORE OWNER HELD ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Booze Dumping Contrivance Genius Again Placed Under Arrest by Police

G. C. Marshall, proprietor of a store at 121 Mill-st., who was fined $300 several weeks ago following his plea of guilty to illegal possession of liquor, is again in custody of local police, who say the same charge will be placed against him today.

Marshall was arrested about 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon by Officers Powell and Wren, who report having found three bottles of whiskey in his place of business. The liquor bottles, officers say, were stored in metal pipes supposed to be a part of Marshall's stock of merchandise.

Marshall's first arrest was accompanied by discovery of a cleverly devised mechanical contrivance which he was accused of using to destroy liquor when ever officers arrived to search the place. By operating any one of several levers hidden in the front of his battery station, it was claimed, he threw a trap door over a vat of acid in the rear room which dumped his liquor into the acid, destroying all trace of alcohol.

This apparatus was confiscated by police.

This morning. Rising temperatures are predicted. The low mark for this winter was reached early today when the mercury slid down to 13 degrees. The high mark yesterday was 31 degrees. It was much colder last night than it was a year ago today and the high was 25 degrees.

Rain or Snow, Forecast

It will be cloudy, with rain or snow tomorrow, the weatherman said today. The storm was much more severe in the northwest part of the state. Auto drivers coming down from Toledo, Detroit and points in Ohio north of Marion reported a heavy fall of snow and many machines in trouble on the highways.

There were a few accidents here. Machines were damaged by skidding into curbs, and some wheels were broken and axles bent, but not enough to make a heavy call on the wrecking cars of local garages.

From the north, however, there came reports of dozens of machines in ditches along the roads, unable to move. Some of them were damaged when they slid off the highway, and others just went into the ditch and could not be taken out. From Bucyrus came a report that there were 27 minor accidents there, no one being hurt, but machines being damaged.

There was trouble getting children to centralized schools this morning, and a report from Crawford County said that three schools would not be open, children being unable to get there in the buses.

New Jersey cities and Philadelphia reported conditions similar to those in New York.

ONE DEAD, MANY HURT IN COLUMBUS MISHAPS

Columbus, Dec. 5.—Today's check-up on the lamaze caused locally by the weekend cold snap disclosed the death of Mrs. Julia Eller, 63, widow, injuries, more or less minor of about a dozen other Columbus residents, scores of damaged automobiles and crippling of rural telephone service.

Practically all of the personal injuries and property damage was caused by the coating of ice on sidewalks, streets, highways, trees and wires.

Mrs. Eller, matron at the Union Station, fell on the icy sidewalk in front of her home, breaking her neck.

With at least 250 poles down and 87 toll circuits out of order, it is not expected that rural phone service would be fully restored until tonight.

CHARLES H. NEWTON DIES

Marion, Dec. 5.—Arrangements were being made today for the burial of the late Charles H. Newton, 84, whose sudden death occurred at his home here Sunday. Newton, president of the Dime Savings Society, was a past commander of the Ohio department, Grand Army of the Republic. He did not miss a meeting of the grand encampment since its organization.

DEATH TOLL 129

Cincinnati, Dec. 5.—The death toll in Hamilton County for this year mounted to 129 today when a police check-up revealed that Mrs. Laura Gray, 61, Clifton, Ky., was dead and seven others were more or less seriously injured in week-end traffic accidents.

SANDUSKY BAY FROZEN

Sandusky, Dec. 5.—Sandusky Bay was frozen almost from shore to shore today, for the first time this winter, and local fish dealers were making preparations to harvest much needed ice for packing.

WOMAN FACES CHARGE OF KILLING HUSBAND

Mrs. Graham Before Jury in West Virginia Circuit Court Today

Wellburg, W. Va., Dec. 5.—Mrs. Mabelle Graham of Canton, Ohio, was to face a jury in Circuit Court here today on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Albert Graham, her husband, who was shot to death while the couple was riding in Graham's automobile near here on Saturday.

Graham's parents, arriving here today from Canton, brought with them a special prosecutor to aid Prosecutor James R. Wilkin, in an effort to prove that Mrs. Graham followed her husband to Wellburg from Canton for the express purpose of killing him.

The defense will contend that Graham was killed when he sought to prevent his wife, whom it is claimed he had deserted, from killing herself. Mrs. Graham told a coroner's jury shortly after the shooting that a revolver she held was accidentally discharged during a struggle and that a bullet she intended for herself struck Graham.

The coroner's jury refused to find the woman, but later a grand jury indictment for murder was returned against her.

with E. L. Mills and others, of his counsel.

The crowd which sought to visit the courtroom was limited to about 125 persons, hundreds congregating in the hall and eagerly demanding of every one who left the courtroom: "What are they doing now?"

The trial was unusually slow getting under way today because the fact that Judge E. W. Ditch had rehearsed things with attaches beforehand. Any array of news writers, photographers, "sob sisters" and others connected with proceedings were jammed into a small space and made so much noise that the proceedings were delayed from time to time.

CONSIDER special commissions created in Washington. There are scores. Congress is asked to create 15 more—one to investigate the Mountain Meadow massacre, that happened about 75 years ago.

Twenty years ago there were 11 special government agencies in Washington. Now there are about 100. The cost has gone up from $1,000,000 a year ago to $750,000,000. There is still room for economy.

LITTLE AND BIG THINGS COST MONEY

The state of Michigan last year paid to the federal government more than $80,000,000 in automobile taxes, which seems a good deal. But North Carolina paid the national government more than $143,000,000 in taxes on cigars.

Sale of cigars is falling off and that of cigarettes increasing by hundreds of millions. The war did that, and smoking by women helps.

TO THE CHILDREN

BY ADDISON RAIN

IN the winters that's just past I've been working in the stores selling books and dolls and playthings. Dealing out the Christmas joys.

Dolls we had in great abundance. On the shelves about the store. They would put them in the doll cases. And push them on the basement floor.

Little boys would want tin soldiers. With their uniforms so bright. Standing always at attention. Always ready for a fight.

Other boys would want a scooter. And some toys they liked the best. They would always buy the scooter. But let mother buy the rest.

Boys and girls will soon be coming. To the store so full of toys. And I'll soon be very happy. Dealing out the Christmas joys.

Once I gave a "fairy" party. To the children at the store. Twenty babies I selected. Ages run from three to four.

Every day the store was crowded. We had scarcely standing room. Twenty babies all invited. And they would be coming soon.

Hobbies, toys and other trinkets. Would require a lot of room. It was now so full of people. We had hardly standing room. Now the boss up in the office. When he heard what I had done. Said he'd solve the problem for me. Just please leave it till the morn.

O, the burden that he lifted. When he said he'd find a way. We could have our fairy party. At a time not far away.

Twenty babies all coming. With their bills and tuckers white. O, it gives me such a pleasure. By the day and by the night.

Now my friend, about your party. You thought the problem over. And I fully have decided. We'll have it on the upper floor.

We will empty all the windows. Facing on West Center Street. Fill them all with toys and playthings. Making everything complete.

For I think your fairy party. Will bring gladness, joy and cheer. It is just the place to have it. And with Christmas time so near.

All the babies in the windows. Want a sight 'twill be to see. Playing with the toys and dolls. Trimming up a Christmas tree.

Beneath the big light in the window. It will glitter like the sun. Throwing out a million sparkles. From the tinsel just put on.

Now old Santa will be coming. With a red cap on his head. Bringing each a little dollie. Dressed in white and some in red.

In the first Soviet cabinet she held the office of Commissioner for Social Welfare. More recently she has served as the Soviet Ambassador in Norway.

AUSTRALIA GIVES PRIZE FOR BEST DEATH POSTER

Sydney, N. S. W., Dec. 5.—A novel suggestion is being adopted by the Government of New South Wales in order to discourage dangerous driving. The idea is to erect a "death" poster at every place where a fatal accident has occurred. Unfortunately these signs will appear at frequent intervals but it is hoped that they will have a restraining effect on drivers.

An open competition for the best design for the "death" sign will be announced.

Mussolini, the lion-hearted—

People in Italy began to whisper: "Mussolini's enemies are too strong for him. He will surely be destroyed."

But enemies did not daunt Mussolini. And to show the Italian people that he had courage and to spare, he strolled into the lion's cage at the Zoo in Rome and had himself photographed patting one of the lions on the head.

The advertisement succeeded. All Italy exclaimed: "Let Mussolini's enemies beware. He has the heart of a lion."

Mussolini was able to advertise his courage in this way only because he had courage. That is the basis of all advertising. Anyone who advertises must have goods that will stand inspection.

Advertisements speak tested truths. Read them. You can act upon them with assurance.

RECKLESS DRIVING

Loving

WHEN our worthy forefathers began to use the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness little did they dream of the speed mania which was due to seize this generation. Whereas in the good old days nothing short of a calamity imperilled private peace, today reckless driving curtails one's constitutional privilege, and we have and hold our life and liberty and pursuit of happiness only as long as we employ our wits to protect them. There's not one of the three we can safely take for granted.

AND reckless driving is not confined to the motorist.

All too many of us are "stepping on the gas," taking a chance and thereby endangering the liberty, the pursuit of happiness, perhaps the life itself not alone of ourselves but of others.

The list of domestic disasters is growing longer and longer.

The causes given in court are many and varied, but the most frequently heard plea is:

"Mis-matched!"

This word covers a multitude of marital sins. It is the generally accepted explanation for selfishness and selfish lack of understanding.

Jack takes Jill to be his loving wife, earnestly resolved to cherish and adore her. But—

Jack's is the domestic type of mind. He has married for a home and children. He wants to settle down, comfortably. And he is convinced his wife is the best dressed woman in the world every time he sees her in a bungalow upon.

Jill is contrary-minded. She has a talent which she doesn't wish to hide in the family mapkin. She paints well and the burns with desire for self-expression. Of course she loves her home and her husband and her children, but not to distraction.

A conflict of purpose arises. Jack tries to bully Jill into renouncing her ambition. Jill retaliates by peevish complaining. Finally one of them recklessly steps on the gas and ruins, possibly kills, the love that has existed between them.

THEN there's youth!

It has freedom and it takes license. Jazz is youth's joy, excitement, its sustenance. What is it taught of self-restraint? So what does it know or care? "Thrill-mad," it "steps on the gas," takes a chance and—

Down it dies flames to gray ashes.

THE law gives to every individual his Life, Liberty, Pursuit of Happiness. The reckless driver flouts the law and takes these rights away.

Common sense, self-control, a little more consideration for and an understanding of "the other fellow" and there would be fewer broken hearts, grim headstones to the memory of those victimized by a headless "stepping on the gas."

GOWNS SMACK OF YE OLDEN TIMES; HATS, SHOES, MODERN

QUAINT, old-fashioned lines are often used to fashion the gowns of midday, but when it comes to hats shoes, strictly up-to-date modes prevail. No bonnets, or feather laden hats for the modern woman. She wears a sports type hat for almost all occasions. And when it comes to shoes—well, since the ad-

vant of the short skirt they have become so important that they not only supplement the costume but are the most colorful part of it. All of this is illustrated above. At the left (top) is the wide-brimmed hat trimmed with a narrow contrasting band in which Marjorie Davies posed. Below that is an-

other job, narrow of brim, and worn with a wide train—the anti-theatrical, of the one above it. Below the hats is a pair of the most colorful of the new shoes. They are of the rattle-skin type. They are made with silk cord which has large wooden beads on each end. With these shoes the wearer could carry an underarm purse of rattle-skin to match.

In the wardrobe of the really smart woman every costume has its suitable shoes. Shoes dyed to match the color of the dress are becoming the rule rather than the exception with many women. The smart shoes are showing shoes in the same shades as the prevailing style colors. Heptile is exceedingly popular, alligator, lizard and snakeskin being used to fashion the whole shoe or for trimming with leather.

The period gown has had a considerable vogue for some time and its charm promises it a continuance of this popularity. The model pictured at the right is made of white satin with gold cloth decorations. A wide band of the gold forms the hem and medallions of gold cloth in graduated sizes trim the entire skirt. The full skirt is long and gathered at the waist, and the short, tight sleeves add to its quaint charm. Joan Crawford posed.

Scientist to Appear on Lecture Course Tuesday

R. B. Ambrose, scientific electrical experimenter, will appear in a program which he terms "The Science Story" tomorrow night at the Star Auditorium.

The third number of the lecture course, which is being presented this winter by students of the Senior Class of Harding High School.

His performance will consist of demonstrations both novel and instructive, which he will explain as he makes each move.

One of Mr. Ambrose's most startling performances is the up-to-the-minute radio control, which he produces by going out into the audience with a portable outfit, and by means of hand held radio waves running a flag up a pole, lighting a cluster of colored lamps, firing a cannon and starting a photograph playing.

His experiments are all extraordinary, educational and fascinating. One of the cleverest of his demonstrations is the welding of two nails by electricity, permitting the current to pass through his body.

Sandwiches No Longer in Class With Lunches, Claim

SANDWICHES no longer belong to the lunch class; they're concentrated dinners now and require highbrow cutting and trimming.

One has but to look around him when he enters an eating house to learn that this is true. Any of Marion's restaurants will fall in line with these statements.

Five years ago the dealer in sandwiches was looked upon as an individual who had not sufficient funds to open a restaurant.

But, the public's attitude toward eating in general and toward the sandwich in particular has changed. The once lowly split-bun and hamburger has become a glorified "three-decker."

Ten years ago, it will be recalled, any hole-in-the-wall luncheon proprietor with a loaf of stale bread, a questionable looking piece of ham, a dull knife, and plenty of grease could qualify to manufacture a sandwich. Today you've got to serve an appetizing ship or a "dandy" dinner before you can even get a look in as an expert in the field.

When a comparatively short time two sandwich shops have opened in Marion. Both are doing a landlubber business. The older established eating houses also are handling more sandwiches than ever before.

Only a short time ago a Cleveland man, known to the fast eating residents of that great metropolis as R. G. Groves, opened a sandwich shop and school on Superior street in that city.

Groves calls his establishment a post graduate sandwich school. He is both dean and faculty and his shop is the classroom.

Since Groves started this unique school more than 20 young men and women have been graduated. The school has a text book like any other accredited school. The monetary course leading to what might be called "bachelor of sandwich degrees" are given in a studio school in Indiana.

The hustle and bustle of life has made the sandwich what it is today, local dealers claim. At noon most persons try to crowd shopping into their lunch hour. As a consequence they order the quickly prepared and just as hastily eaten sandwich. To busy matters along the enter, washed down the half inarticulate outside with splashes of juice or milk.

Women and girls, particularly those who are engaged in business, find that the sandwich meets the light lunch instructions for those who would keep that boyish figure.

Summing it all up, it is no wonder in strong for this article of food find that it is economical, handy and sufficient for a noon-day meal.

Paupers' Supper at the First Presbyterian Church, Tuesday, Dec. 7, from 5 to 7 o'clock. 35 cents. Adm. 1c.

When informed that the only chance to avoid the amputation of an infected foot was to reach a hospital within a few hours, a woman in Corning, Calif., used the long-distance telephone to call up an air pilot at Klamath Falls, Ore. The pilot made the 200-mile flight to Corning in less than two hours, took the woman aboard, and then flew another 200 miles to San Francisco, arriving at the hospital in time to prevent amputation.

BUSY GIRL BECOMES STILL BUSIER

Miss Ruby Wooten of Chickasha, Okla., graduate student of the University of Oklahoma, at Norman, has been named personnel director of 500 students who are participating in the Wesley foundation of the McFarlin Memorial church in Norman. Miss Wooten is also carrying fourteen hours of college work, is taking aesthetic dancing and is specializing in dramatics with a private tutor.

Waitress on Morning Shift Has Hardest Job of the Day

Do you approach the lunch counter with a clean and shiny apron? Do you greet your customers with a smile? Do you serve them with a grace and speed that is a thing of beauty? If so, you are a waitress on the morning shift. It is the hardest job of the day.

on the job long ago gets fastidious that crisp-brown look in your eyes. The girl on the breakfast shift has the hardest job of the day. Consider what task must be facing her to greet a flock of sleepy-eyed mortals before they have consumed their morning's java, and get away with it. Folks who palliate laziness and good cheer before lunch or dinner, even though they crave food, refuse to crash through with more than a reluctant grunt before breakfast.

Then there are those who want their food thin and dry while others emphatically refuse to allow it to be thick as a congressional record and whinny in better. People are as fickle over the breakfast menu questions as the G. O. P. and the Democratic party. Some never vary from the fruit, toast and coffee routine 295 days in the year while others, none give up without apparent discomfort through a meal of fruit, cereal, griddle cakes, bacon, rolls and coffee with a piece of raisin pie for a desert.

The real battle, however, is between the two factions, the crisp and soft, the brown deserts and the hot tea. Farmers continue to grow crops with bacon, the war will continue.

Then, for the first time, did the world at large get a new inkling of Harry Thaw, heretofore pictured only as a sensationalist, rumbler, habitue of night clubs and principal of divers escapades...

HAS BROADWAY CHANGED? YES, IT HAS!

How does the street compare with that of two decades ago when Madison Square Garden and its tower were the scenes of the big night life? "Broadway then was pitiful," replied Thaw. "It is comparatively better today."

HASN'T SEEN GIRL HE IS HELPING

"I've never seen the girl," Thaw went on. "Don't expect to. When it is all over, I suppose she'll go back to her husband with the baby she did not know was living. And then, I suppose I'll never hear any more about the affair."

His skin smooth, he looks much younger than his fifty odd years. Tall, straight as a die, looks like athlete. As he arose from his desk, his feet seemed rather than walk. He was straight as a die, and his shoulders, despite the sorrow they bore, are as upright as those of a college athlete.

Chief Engineer of Marion Steam Shovel Co. Still Active Head of Department After 41 Years Service

Should any enterprising writer ever go to the time and trouble of compiling an authentic record of "Who's Who in Marion", the list would not be complete unless it included the name of Charles W. Cummins.

"Why?" you may inquire, for Mr. Cummins is not a man who has had a life in the spotlight during his long and useful life and as a consequence the right to local distinction and tribute may be questioned by those not acquainted with him or his career.

Charles W. Cummins has been in the employ of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. longer than any other person now on the payroll and his faithful and capable service has contributed no small part to the success that has come to this important industrial concern during its more than 40 years of operation.

Began in 1885.
On May 10, 1885, Mr. Cummins, then 29 years of age, he is now 70, and heavy and on the job every day at the age of 70—entered the service of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. as chief engineer in charge of the power plant. In fact he was more than chief. He was also the entire engine house working force.

only about a year and a half when Mr. Cummins was given a place on its payroll. It was then operating in a single frame building north of Center St. this building having been purchased from Jacob Keller, who had used it as a planing mill. Mr. Cummins had worked in this mill prior to becoming connected with the Marion Steam Shovel Co.

At the time Mr. Cummins started work in charge of the engine house, the company had manufactured only two steam shovels. The first had been turned out in the old Huber plant on N. State St. as a test machine and the second had been made in the old planing mill.

The shop force consisted of about 20 men in those early days, which is far distant from the payroll list at this time. The latest figures show that the company now has more than 2,000 employees.

Inventor Manager

Henry M. Barnhart, inventor of the Marion Steam Shovel, was general manager and Edward Huber was president. George W. King, who became president a number of years afterward, and Busby P. Sweeney, for years the general superintendent, became actively connected with the enterprise and were important factors in ultimate growth and development.

It is to the wisdom and untiring energy of these men that Mr. Cummins points as the basis of the notable success achieved by Marion's largest industry.

At the same time the veteran engineer places foremost among the factors which contributed to the steady growth and progress of the enterprise the spirit of friendliness and cooperation that has been almost invariably prevalent between employer and employee throughout all of the company's years of operation. He says this tribute to officials of the corporation, both past and present, as the result of his own personal observations and experience.

Future Uncertain

"In the earlier days, when no one was sure whether the company would weather the storms or not, the working force in both office and shop was like one big family," Mr. Cummins says. "Whenever there were rumors that an order for a shovel had been handed, the news spread instantly through the shop and all of the men were humming over with joy. It was as though the business was their own."

When death claimed Mr. Barnhart, the founder of the industry, a wave of gloom pervaded the entire force of employees and there was general fear that the business would suffer severely and possibly result in a total failure. This feeling of apprehension quickly vanished, however, when it was seen that cause of sickness and with but very few exceptions the sound of the whistle was always found him at his post.

Always on Time

"I have always taken pride in being on time," he says, and he continues to maintain this record. Only about four years ago the ancient boiler that was used in connection with the company's first power plant, the one operated by Mr. Cummins, was scrapped. The veteran engineer at the time urged officials of the corporation to preserve it as an historic exhibit but his plan came too late.

Charles W. Cummins was born on a farm near Green Camp on Aug. 19, 1856 and came to Marion when a youth after working a few years on a farm near Newmarket. Prior to entering the employ of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. he worked for J. F. and Walter Prendergast, last founders of the Prendergast Lumber Co. He lives with his wife at 208 S. Highest. Both are in excellent health and have the appearance of being much younger than their years.

They have one daughter, Mrs. Grant Counts of Mary-st.

Expects To Remain

Mr. Cummins expects to remain on the job at the factory as long as his health will permit and that indicates he will continue for an extended period of time.

"I enjoy my work and wouldn't know what to do with myself if I attempted to retire," he declares.

Frank H. King, sales manager, ranks second in length of service with the company, having become an employee about six months after Mr. Cummins went on the payroll. Prior to being connected with the office force, King worked in the pattern department.

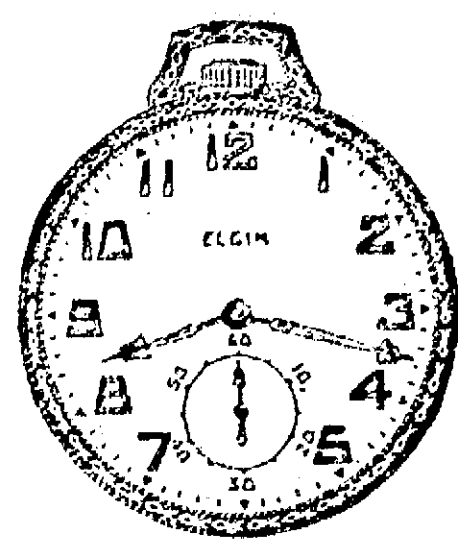

The Bombay presidency in India followed the example set by the Mar. Presidency in making women eligible to membership in the Provincial Legislative Council.

VIOLATIONS OF SMUGGLING LAW ARE NEGLIGIBLE

Attorney General's Report Shows Rum Running Done
by U. S. Registered Ships

Washington, Dec. 6.—Violation of smuggling laws by foreign ships is negligible, according to the report of Attorney General
Clegg to congress today.

That most of the rum running is carried on by ships registered in this country.

The prohibition section of the report
written by Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general, said that during the year $19 American vessels were seized, 230 of which carried liquor cargoes. In the same period, only 33 foreign ships, 25 of British registry were captured.

"Progress made by the government in the suppression of liquor smuggling has been interesting, if not encouraging," Mrs. Willebrandt declared. "The law is still unsettled and unsatisfactory."

Say Drive Hampered

The statement created considerable comment in view of the fact that General L. C. Andrews has declared that rum run practically has been wiped out and excellent progress made in the anti-smuggling drive.

The drive against rum runners is hampered by a variety of federal court decisions and lack of proper legislation.

According to the report.

Mrs. Willebrandt said that the statistics given to the government authority to seize vessels on the high seas further than 12 miles off shore, although one of the circuit court ruled that "the coast guard may arrest an American vessel anywhere on the high seas, if there is ground to suspect the commission of an offense."

From How Moved

"On account of the extra territorial seizure conventions which the United States has negotiated with eight foreign governments, our so-called 'rum row'
has been moved away from the coast considerably further than 12 miles."

Yes, Willebrandt said. "The legal question involving authority to operate beyond the 12 mile limit is important and probably will have to be decided by the supreme court."

"Some of the federal courts have held that the foreign rum treaties are 'not self-executing.' Mrs. Willebrandt said that further legislation by congress will be necessary before they become of substantial use. Mrs. Willebrandt said
"there are continued evidences of increasing cooperation on the part of foreign governments in connection with the suppression of rum smuggling."

Progress Made

Notable progress was made in increasing the length of prison sentences and fines during the year, the report showed. Prison sentences amounted to 5,666 years, fines $7,491,000, permanent injunctions 3,666, while pending cases were reduced from 24,681 on June 30, 1932, to 20,791 a year later.

The government in the year instituted 44,492 cases against liquor violators.
Out of 48,729 cases terminated, 10,208
were dismissed and 1,303 persons acquitted.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

Miss Renish Smith, Hill-st., underwent an operation for the removal of her tonsils and adenoids at the Dr. E.
L. Brady office, S. Main-st., Saturday morning.

Behind the Screen

Marion Davis

IN the course of their careers film stars rub elbows with many walks of life and professions. In short, they must acquire liberal education before they have gone far into stardom.

Not so long ago William Haines was given an intensive course in football in order to play Tom Brown in "Brown of Harvard." Now, after leading for 12 years captain of the New York Giants, is teaching Haines to pitch, catch and bat for his leading role in
"Slide, Kelly, Slide."

When George K. Arthur was cast as Madame Lucy in "Irene," he spent two weeks learning to embroider.

A marine sergeant drill of Lon Chaney for weeks before he undertook his part in "Till It Be the Marines."

Eleanor Boardman, in the same production, studied the requirements of a taxi nurse.

Bell who are familiar and deadly weapons in the hands of Roy D'Arcy and Antonio Moreno, who were taught to lash each other in "Tempest."

Moreno also passed some time with the Northwest Mounted Police for his part of Sergeant Curigan in "The Plumed Feather."

Carroll Myers was a daily visitor at a horse farm in California and Norman Shaner took lessons in swimming from a famous all for that role in "The Devil's Circus."

Hollywood's best dancing master taught John Gilbert and Marion Novarro the art so they would be able to give a finished performance when the script called for a dancing duet.

Marion Davis' song in "The Red Mill" in that picture Marion had to display considerable prowess on the key.

NEW METHOD FOR RUPTURE

Expert Coming

To Give Free Demonstrations
at the Marion Hotel
on Wednesday

You want to be done with rupture
forever and to be rid of its torment and suffering. You long to throw away your old truss and never have to wear it again. You want to be whole and solid and strong.

You have hoped that some day you would find a way to heal your rupture, so you will be through with trusses,
chafing, leg straps, binding braces and cruel pinching springs. Now you can end rupture misery and the torture of crude devices. Unless you actually want to go on being bothered you don't have to endure the trouble of rupture relief is here.

Don't let skepticism keep you from finding out about this method. Don't think because you have tried so many things that there is nothing to help you and give the relief you want. If you can't cure and fail to grasp this opportunity then there is little hope but if you really want to see what can be done and how it can be done, then see the Schilling Rupture Method demonstrated by the Rupture Expert.

He will be at the Marion Hotel on Wednesday, December 6th, demonstrating the Schilling Rupture Method and showing what it does for rupture. This is your one chance to find out about this method and to see why it has given relief to so many thousands who have reported complete recoveries and rupture gone entirely.

There is no expense or obligation to see the demonstration or to try the Schilling Rupture Method. It will not cost one penny to find out and to see for yourself what it will do for you.

It will pay you to see the Schilling Rupture Method. Just ask at the hotel desk for the Rupture Expert on Wednesday from 10 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m., or 6 to 8 p. m.

Women with rupture, fallen stomachs,
large abdomens or rupture from operations should see the method which will be privately shown by the Lady Representative.

FOR months since her graduation
from the Paramount picture school Josephine Dunn has been a familiar figure around the studio. She was playing minor roles and extra parts and was beginning to take larger things so called to herself.

Marionable. Producer H. B. Warner had been casting about for a leading woman for "Love's Greatest Mistake."
He had often seen Josephine with her tightly curled bobbed hair which she wore rather long, wondering about the sets. He had even proposed her to him saying the wasn't the type he was seeking.

Now all the Paramount extras are going about with their hair back to the waist, leaving that some director will place their way with favor.

There will be no long roots for Reginald Denny, I haven't time to say, but some time to come if the present style has laid down by the company is adhered to. Now in the matter of "Slide Down," he is scheduled to make "Fast and Furious," as soon as the present picture is finished. After that comes "Let's Go Home," a comedy of the American army of occupation.

Although Harry Langdon's comedy
"Long Pants," isn't about the Maroons, it boasts five leading women. They are Anna Bennett, Priscilla Bennett, Betty

Josephine Dunn, above, with her new hairdress and below, with a lucky lady.

Edna, Amy Christie, and the retired
Rube Landon.

On its winter production schedule
Paramount has:

"Love's Greatest Mistake," with Josephine Dunn and William Powell.
"The Palace" with W. C. Fields.
"The Great Train Robbery," with Richard Dix and Henry Fournier.
"The Cross Road Captain," as yet unannounced.
"A Good Love," with Florence
Vidor.
"The Girl and the Boy," with Thomas Meighan.
"Cubana" with Gloria Gray.
"The Perfect Fool," with Ed Wynn.

Reata Hoyt is being mentioned as successor to Johanna Bonston as Harold Lloyd's leading lady. Johanna may sign a contract with Cecil De Mille, then again the may not. You know she is going to marry Richard Arden just as soon as he finishes his present part in
"Wings," about January 5 or 6.

During the filming of "White London Sleeps," the Tin-Tin became the father of a litter of eight puppies.

FIRE DAMAGES HOUSE ON BELLEFONTE-AV

Firemen from Engine House No. 1 were called Saturday to extinguish a blaze at the home of D. H. Hagen, 232 Bellefontaine-ave., where sparks from the chimney had ignited the roof. ## COUNCIL PRESIDENT ACTS IN CAPACITY OF MAYOR

Binds Philadelphia Man Over to Grand Jury on Theft Charge

Emory E. Murphy, president of the City Council, acting as chief executive of the city during absence of Mayor Paul M. Hazen, presided over police court Saturday and bound Albert Morrow, 26, of Philadelphia, over to the grand jury on an automobile theft charge.

Morrow was arrested in Galien, Thursday night, when found in possession of an automobile stolen from Perry J. Westland, 210 Curley-av. The automobile had been taken from its parking place on S. Main-st a few hours before Morrow's arrest and the local police notified authorities in nearby cities to look for the car.

Morrow pleaded guilty and active Mayor Murphy fixed his bond at $1,000. He will be held at the county jail awaiting grand jury action.

John Wilson, 33, colored, arrested at the Erie transfer on an intoxication charge, pleaded guilty and was fined $20. Being unable to pay, he was taken to the county jail.

A false alarm of fire interrupted a big football match in England the other day, the captain of the home team having to join the fire brigade.

"CASCARETS" FOR COSTIVE BOWELS, HEADACHE, COLDS

To-night! Clean your bowels and stop headache, colds, sour stomach

Get a 10 cent box now.

Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and bad colds—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels, or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sick—Atty.

CHANG SOON TO FORM GROUP OF OWN CHOOSING

Chinese Marshal Plans Permanent Residence in Peking; May Become Dictator

London, Dec. 6.—Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian warlord, will shortly form a cabinet of his own choosing, according to a Daily Mail dispatch today from Peking.

It is reported that Chang is making preparations for his permanent residence in Peking and it is rumored that he later will assume a dictatorship over the Chinese government. Other dispatches report that Chang Tso-Lin is preparing to take to the field against the Cantonese troops. Fighting of the severest nature is expected shortly in the Yangtze sector.

THIRTY CHINESE STRIKES SETTLED

Shanghai, Dec. 6.—Thirty of the 55 individual strikes declared by Chinese servants, custom officials and police in the expatriate of Hankow have been settled, but anti-foreign demonstrations continued today as strong as ever.

It is reported that the nationalists, organizers of the strikes, have decided to send delegates to Europe in the hope that by careful research there they will be able to carry on the boycott of foreign goods on a more scientific manner. Disorders were reported today at Foochow, which is now in the hands of the Chinese, as strong as ever, reported on Friday.

It is rumored here that the troops of Marshal Wu Pei-fu, who for many years has alternated between fighting Marshal Chang Tso-Lin for mastery at Peking, and allying with Chang against other rivals, will join the Cantonese forces.

FOUR THOUSAND ATTEND SHOVEL GYM OPENING

Musical Program, Dancing, Refreshments Enjoyed by Employees and Families

Four thousand Marion Steam Shovel Co. employees, their families and friends, attended the grand opening of the new $30,000 Shovel Gym Saturday night.

It was a grand family celebration with dancing and other in everything. Music and entertainment were furnished by the Steam Shovel band and orchestra and individuals. All took part in dancing, consisting of all steps from the old time waltzes to the present day "Black Bottom."

The large hall accommodated all visitors and did not close its doors until late Saturday night, when the party was reluctantly brought to a close. The Steam Shovel "family" affair Saturday night is only a foretaste of many celebrations and social events which may be held in the new gym this winter. The gym will be open for four nights each week, but on many occasions a department or special group of employees will take advantage of the opportunity and stage parties and recreational events.

The new gym was completed about two weeks ago and has everything found in connection with an up-to-date recreational hall. Lines have been drawn on the large floor for basketball and volleyball and seating arrangements have been made to accommodate 700 persons.

The gym will at no time be rented to any outside organization. It has been built simply to supply the recreational needs of Steam Shovel employees and their families and will be used only for that purpose, it was announced today.

STREET PAVING MATERIAL MAY BE TRIED HERE

Report of Officials After Extensive Visit Favorable to New Substance

Amiesite, a street paving material which has given highly satisfactory service in numerous cities but which has never been used in Marion, may be tried out here as the result of an investigation of its merits made by Mayor Earl M. Hazen, Service Director O. A. Bonnell and City Engineer T. S. Cathers last week.

These three officials visited Philadelphia, Washington and other eastern cities and towns during the latter part of the week for the purpose of getting first hand information regarding amiesite. They found officials in all of these places enthusiastic in their praise of this type of paving.

It was found that a stretch of amiesite surface in use 11 years on the Baltimore road leading out of Philadelphia in as good shape as the day it was laid. The material has been used for 15 years, with similar results and amiesite paving in Washington are also thoroughly satisfactory, the local officials report.

Similar Cost
Amiesite is a combination material in which asphalt is one of the chief ingredients. Its cost is about the same as asphalt but officials in the East say that it is not affected by heat and that reason is a preference to asphalt, which often becomes soft and pliable and "rolls up" during the hot weather seasons. Amiesite is installed in its natural state, heat treatment, such as is used with asphalt, being unnecessary.

Letting of the Hollaender paving contract was recently postponed here because only one of the contractors included amiesite in his bid. New bids are to be received, with instructions for all to list prices on the new material.

Mayor Hazen and Mr. Bonnell returned home yesterday and Mr. Cathers went to Reynoldsville, Pa., his former home, to visit relatives for several days.

Yes Sir, Marion Barber Says, Men Get Marcells, Eye Brows Plucked on the Sly

"Plucking beauty" is the name of the game in Marion Barber's shop. The barber, who has been in the business for 15 years, says that the most interesting fact in his life is the fact that he has been in the business for 15 years. He says that he has been in the business for 15 years and that he has been in the business for 15 years.

And there is the timid, cautious man who, coasting up to the barber's face, has pulled down the corner of his eye, and the woman who, in the barber's chair, has been plucked on the sly. The barber says that he has been in the business for 15 years and that he has been in the business for 15 years.

They even prefer something else to the barber's face. They say that they have been in the barber's chair for 15 years and that they have been in the barber's chair for 15 years.

do their work, one man said. Perhaps that accounts for the choice. However, when it comes to eye-brow plucking, the barber says that he has been in the business for 15 years and that he has been in the business for 15 years.

"I have a regular customer—a prominent business man in the city," one very attractive young woman beauty specialist confided in that same inquisitive reporter. "who comes once a week to have his eyebrows 'plucked' and his nails manicured. Of course a great many men come in for manicures, too, and you should see some of the nails I have to work on."

"And then there are the men—mostly the 'dude' type—come together with a few business men and actors, who, having their shaves, facial and manicure requests a deft and delicate manipulation of cheek, the proper amount of lipstick to insure charm and a touch of eyebrow pencil."

"One of my most interesting customers," one barber said, "is the man who, when we have performed the various beauty aids required, insists upon a standing before a mirror and with eyebrow pencil giving a fashionable twist to an unruly mustache."

"What do most men like the best, the manicure, the eyebrow pluck, the massage, the manicure, or the haircut?" one young woman beauty-tender was asked. In reply she said, "To talk—always to talk, they love to be entertained and seem more interested in the conversation."

than on the process of being made beautiful—that's why they enjoy the woman barber—she knows how to listen." When asked why he thought men often preferred the handiwork of women beauty culturists, one barber bitterly said, "there's doubtless a thrill in it."

One little shop visited by the reporter proved the theory that men, too, have their vanities and that beauty as well as charity "begins at home" for, seated in the barber chair waiting for customers, was a completely beautified barber, hair-trimming, eyebrows—plucked, cheek-tinted, lip-rouged, and hair-curler (though it might have been natural).

The one grievance of Marion barber shops is the fact that never yet have they had the pleasure of giving a man the very popular permanent wave. However, men have been crowded out of barber shops into beauty parlors and it should not be so very long before they, too, fall victims to the permanent waving machine.

Reverend Smiley quoted many prominent and learned men on both sides of the question of execution by the state.

"The history of capital punishment," he said, "is interesting. It has constantly held its place in the categories of penalties since the very earliest times, but the grades of offense to which it has been attached have been various."

"There is much to be said against this form of punishment. Thinking people today favor its abolition. The law always has been the best thought of the time. Penologists regard capital punishment as a relic of barbarism."

"There are about 100,000 homicides annually in the United States. The number of executions for murder is a little more than 100. Thirteen European countries have abolished this form of punishment and in three other countries it is not enforced."

Quoting Darwin, the noted English lawyer, says the only remedy against crime is education. There are only two chief motives for murder. It is committed by one caught in the act of robbery or because of love or jealousy growing out of hate.

"They used to hang persons before the public, believing that it would be a more effective weapon to use in the fight against crime. But today executions are private. It hanging or electrocution a man is held a lesson when the pictures of executions suppress."

REV. R.W. SMILEY GIVES SERMON ON EXECUTION

Says Capital Punishment Must Continue Until Moral Standard Is Better

Until the general moral standard is such that capital punishment can safely be abolished public execution of murderers must continue.

That, in brief, was the message last night of Rev. Raymond W. Smiley, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, in his sermon on "Capital Punishment, Is It Right or Wrong?" The church was filled to capacity for the service, which closed with a solo, "The Old Rugged Cross," sung by Mrs. R. L. Wallace. Only the shaded light from a huge, white electrically-illuminated cross lit up the auditorium as the service closed.

Reverend Smiley quoted many prominent and learned men on both sides of the question of execution by the state.

"The history of capital punishment," he said, "is interesting. It has constantly held its place in the categories of penalties since the very earliest times, but the grades of offense to which it has been attached have been various."

How Long The Remembrance?

Gifts are like friendships. They wear well, or they are soon forgotten. In order that they may "wear well" they must be gifts that last, that endure, that will be constant reminders. Friendships are a comfort. Gifts should be a comfort. A nice furniture piece seems to answer all the requirements for sound, sensible, practical gift-giving. Consider this question well—turn it over in your mind well, before you buy. A gift worth giving is easy to find in the Schaffner store. As you walk through our different floors you will see many articles that are "just the thing" for the lucky recipient you have in mind. Some very inexpensive things (as low as a dollar) many other articles that you will wish somebody would buy for you. Don't forget that you can pay for your gifts—at least the major part of the bill—next year.

Mr. Cagle is the manager of the Gallion Lumber company and although a number of thefts of coal and supplies have been recorded during the last few months, this is the only one which has been repaid.

Patsy's Patter

Gossip and Guesses in the World of Sport

By Pat Murphy

All accounts of the Walker-Flowers fight which Chicago has not learned the lesson brought home to her more than twenty years ago, when the gambler got to Joe Gans and had him "take a dive" for Timmy McGovern. The "dive" was killed in the early days of the "fight." And it took a better struggle over a long period of years to bring the game back legally. There was a good deal of talk after the fight in which Sammy Mandell won his questionable decision and the fight was the championship from Rocky Kanawha, the veteran Italian. The fight on last Friday will cause all the fighters who want a square deal to give the big town on Lake Michigan a wide berth. The action of the Illinois Athletic commission in backing the decision of Referee Yanger was the only logical one for the sides to take. They could not afford to admit that the fight "was in the bag."

We hope that Flowers and Walker will meet again where there will be no question of the fairness of whatever verdict is rendered. We think that Walker is the better fighter of the two, but would like to have something more decisive than a "Chicago decision" on which to base our belief.

THE rumor that Hugh Jennings may succeed Tris Speaker as manager of the Cleveland Indians is interesting, if true. Hugh was a great factor with the Cleveland Indians when he was leader of the team at Detroit. There was seemingly more rivalry between Cleveland and Detroit than there was between Cleveland and any other American League team. When Jennings got on the coaching line and munched grass, occasionally letting out his ear-splitting "E-Yah!" he was a target for much good natured razzing from the bleachers. If Hugh's health is good enough to allow him to return to the game in the American League he will be welcomed in every city in the circuit.

TWO world's champions will appear on the wrestling card offered at Memorial Hall, Columbus, Thursday night. In the main go, Clarence Eklund, the "human centipede" from Buffalo, Wyo., will defend his 175-pound title against Ira Bern, of Salt Lake City. Bern defeated Eklund at catchweights in the west a few months ago, and his trial at the title comes as a reward for several victories over good men in this part of the country since his Eklund win.

In the semi-final bout on the same card, Jack Leach, boss of the 150-pound division, will go out of his class to meet Joe Corso, a recent Italian importation, at 150 pounds. Reynolds and Eklund are both real champions, and great crowd pleasers. The presence of either on a program has always been sufficient to pack the house in Columbus. With both of these drawing cards on the same bill, we doubt if Memorial Hall will hold the crowd.

NOTRE DAME upset the dope bucket again Saturday by defeating Southern California, 12-7. After the defeat by Cornell, Trinity, which, according to the dopsters, Notre Dame should have won, the stock of the Irish team took an abrupt drop, and all the wise boys were predicting an easy victory for Howard Jones, Trojan. But wise old Knute was with the team at this game, and in the last few minutes of play, sent Parsons, who was injured in mid-season, in at quarterback. The sub quarter immediately uncoiled a brilliant forward passing game which forced over Notre Dame's second touch-down and won the game. Had Knute been with the team at Pittsburgh, instead of at the Army-Navy game at Chicago, he might have used some such strategy and saved the game. Had it not been for the single defeat at the hands of the Haid, Notre Dame could now be hailed as the greatest team in the country.

THIS one man who is responsible for all the protest against the intentional pass in baseball is the king of swat, George Herman Ruth. Before the big bug got into the habit of busting the apple out of the bat, there was little or no attention paid to the habit of a pitcher intentionally passing a dangerous hitter to get at one figured to have less chance of hitting safely. But the fans who thronged the ball parks of the American league on Saturday and Sunday when the Yanks were scheduled to play went there with the almost unanimous hope of seeing the Bambino deliver one of his famous clouts. The big storm of protests came from this army of weekend fans. They argued that they came to see Ruth hit, not to see him amble to first without the necessity of making an effort to hit.

THE insignia of a captain of New York City's "finest" now perches on the cap of Matt J. McGrath, America's greatest hammer thrower, after years of pavement pounding. Only a few weeks ago, he was raised from sergeant to lieutenant. Now the star of four Olympic teams will direct traffic at a salary of $4,000 a year.

SEVEN clubs in the American Association are "set up" over the reported efforts of the Cincinnati Reds to buy the Columbus franchise and establish a farm in Ohio's capital. A club can be sold without the approval of a majority of the clubs. The magnates, who are now in session at Asheville, N. C., have signified that such approval will be withheld. They are proud of the prestige of their league, and feel that the buying of a club in that league for a tryout ground for a big league team would take away some of that prestige. There is a rumor that if Wilson is determined to sell his holdings in Columbus, the league will buy him out and hold the franchise until a suitable buyer can be found. It is a club that the Reds could not send their poorest players to Columbus and get a worse band of ball than was played by the team last season by Hank Gowdy.

GEORGE McQUILAN, who succeeded Hank Gowdy in the middle of last season, as manager of the Columbus American Association

Dairies Will Tackle Kinnears Here Thursday

Stellar Columbus Five to Invade Star Auditorium for Battle With Isalies

Chic Harley, Pete Stinchcomb, Mel Shaw, Johnny Miner, and Other Famous Athletes To Appear on Local Floor Thursday Night; Aces To Play Midways

BY EDDIE SCHOENLEB
Sports Editor, The Star

ONE of the smoothest floor machines in the state of Ohio will be seen in working order on the Star Auditorium court Thursday night, when the Columbus Kinnears invade the territory inhabited by Isaly Dairies.

The local cagers have met two opponents here this season and have had little trouble in romping about the floor at will, dropping the ball in the bucket from all angles. But the third battle of the season will differ from the other two "practice sessions."

The Kinnears will come to Marion equipped with an all-star lineup of some of the best known players in the country. No less percentages than "Mel" Shaw and Johnny Miner will take up their forward positions while Chic Harley and Bob Shea will be seen as guards and Andy Semonschek will appear as center. Other notable to see include Deacon Lynch and Pete Stinchcomb.

The Shaw-Miner combination forms one of the latest and cleverest offenses ever displayed on a basketball floor. Three and four years ago these two men were helping Ohio State capture the Western Conference championship and since their graduation have made themselves more and more famous under the name of the Columbus Kinnears.

Harley Well Known
Chic Harley needs no introduction to sport fans of Marion or any other community in this country. He is noted for his excellent work on the gridiron and during recent years has proven himself to be a strong guard on the hardwood floor. "Thunder" Lynch, one of the best basket shots in the state, and Bob Shea, former captain of the Ohio Wesleyan cagers, will also alternate the guard positions and Pete Stinchcomb will lead his assistance at times.

Lynch also may be seen at center, relieving Andy Semonschek, one of the tallest centers in the game and ranks tion team, Saturday resigned the position. When George took hold of the Senators, the team was a hopeless last in the Association race. He did as well as any manager could do with the material left him by Cowdy. President Carr seemed to be of the opinion that George was entitled to a chance to show what he could do with the team from the start of next season, and made an arrangement to displace the veteran pitcher. To show that his efforts in the fall end of last season were appreciated McQuilhan has been offered a position as coach or assistant to the new manager, whoever he may be.

UNDERGRADUATES at Princeton have petitioned the faculty athletic committee to reinstate boxing as a sport after 20 years of banishment. The senior council has approved the petition.

A resolution attached to the petition suggests that a conference with the Army, Navy and Yale be arranged to draw up rules governing intercollegiate competition in the ring.

DENISON University has a basketball team in which captains are in the majority. Besides Captain Ross Ashbrook, who has two letters in basketball, ex-Captain C. J. Deakin holds two letters in basketball, one in football and two in baseball. James Nicholson, who was captain of this year's football squad, has two letters in football, two in basketball and two in track.

SIX changes in managers of big league teams since the close of the past season has led to investigation which discloses that since the 1923 season, there are but three teams which have not had new managers. New York Yankees have kept John McGraw, the Yanks have held on to Miller Huggins and Connie Mack has retained his hold in Philadelphia. With these three exceptions, every team has changed leaders, as follows:

National League:
Cardinals—From Branch Rickey to Rogers Hornsby.
Cubs—From Billy Killebrew to Rabbit Maravich to George Gibson to Joe McGarity.
Dodgers—From Wilbert Robinson to Zack Wheat to Wilbert Robinson.
Reds—From the late Pat Moran to Jack Hendricks.
Braves—From Fred Mitchell to Dave Bancroft.
Phils—From Arthur Fletcher to Stuffy McInnis.
Pirates—From Bill McKeebush to Donnie Bush.

American League:
Broncos—From Lee Fohl to Jimmy Austin to George Sisher to Dan Howley.
Red Sox—From the late Frank Chance to Lee Fohl to Bill Carrigan.
White Sox—From Kid Gleason to the late Frank Chance to Johnny Evers to Eddie Collins to Ray Schalk.
Senators—From Donnie Bush to Stinky Harris.
Tigers—From Ty Cobb to George Moriarty.
Indians—From Tris Speaker to success yet to be named.

HEAVYWEIGHT Champion Gene Tunney, who because of his war record with the Marines, has often been called a "Devil Dog" has been given a new moniker in France. He is commonly known among French boxing enthusiasts as "Monsieur Tunney," an "chien diabolique" or, in plain United States "a diabolical dog." All of the French boxing writers use the term. One writer in a Paris sporting paper has gone so far as to issue a challenge to "the diabolical dog" to come to France and meet an unnamed "safari" fighter, he has in his stable of heavyweight fighters.

CARRIGAN, THAT'S BILL!

UNLESS the remnants of a game business, existence and home life have softened Mr. William A. Carrigan, new manager of the Boston Red Sox, in the ten years he has been out of baseball, the Boston players are in for a pleasant (2) surprise next spring. Lee Fohl seemed to build a fighting, winning ball club at Boston mainly because he lacked the fire and pugnaciousness to put the "SCRAP" into the ball players he and his riders collected.

Bill Carrigan won two pennants in four years as manager of the Red Sox by the simple expedient of using his team with an iron hand, driving them with the whip. When the occasion demanded he put the proper "bite" into his team or members of it by leading with his right and cussing with his left.

Comes From "Hard Days"
Carrigan is of the old school—hard headed and proud of it. Carrigan goes into the game with a free hand. He doesn't need the money. He's virtually a millionaire right now. He was wealthy when he stepped out of baseball 10 years ago and he's multiplied every dollar he then had. He's got but one thing in the future from baseball, then, the old thrill of leading a pennant winning team.

Carrigan looks into the big show with the Red Sox in 1926. He had been given a tryout in the

Fairfield Engineer-Commercial Tilt to Feature Second Industrial Round

The Fairfield Engineer-Commercial battle promises to be the outstanding of the public importance of the Fairfield Industrial Basketball League tonight on the Star Auditorium floor. The game will come last on the program, being preceded by the Osgood C. D. & M. faces and the Huber Railway Service Skirmish.

The high scoring tonight will receive one of Jim Duran's best headlines as a reward for his work in getting up the points. The reward itself is enough to urge every man on the floor tonight to do his best. The Commercial will make their

HESS NOT PLACED ON COLLIER'S TEAM

Eight Players Selected By Davis J. Walsh Named By National Publication

New York, Dec. 6—Collier's All-American football team for 1926, made public today, contains eight of the 11 members of the first team, selected for International News Service by Davis J. Walsh a week ago.

The eight men named by both teams are Hanson, of Syracuse; Wickhorst, of the Navy; Boeringer, of Notre Dame; Shively, of Illinois; Smith, of Brown; Friedman, of Michigan; Kaer, of Southern California; and Joesting, of Minnesota.

Collier's selection follows:
Ends—Hanson, Syracuse, and Oosterbaan, Michigan; tackles, Wickhorst, Navy, and Smith, Brown; guards, Goetz, Georgetown, and Shively, Illinois; center, Boeringer, Notre Dame; quarterback, Friedman, Michigan; halfbacks, Baker, Northwestern, and Kaer, Southern California; fullback, Joesting, Minnesota.

Coaches, Glenn Warner, Stanford; Bob Zuppke, Illinois; G. C. Woodruff, Georgia; Knute Rockne, Notre Dame; Wallace Wade, Alabama; Captains J. J. McLean, Oregon; W. A. Alexander, Georgia Tech; Howard Jones, Southern California; L. P. Madison, St. Mary's; and Dan McGugin, Vanderbilt, collaborated with Grantland Rice in the selection of the team.

The Thanksgiving Day game of Cornell and the University of Pennsylvania marks the thirty-third clash between these grid foots, the first game being played in 1893. Of these games Pennsylvania has triumphed on 21 occasions, while the Red and White has seven victories to its credit. In 1906 the teams battled to a scoreless tie.

Results of football games all over the country this season show that the day when the big college team could win all its games has certainly gone.

Shovel Basketball League Will Open Season Tonight On New Gymnasium Court

Two Games Scheduled for Floor Tonight, While Third League Contest Is Booked as Preliminary to Ohio Wesleyan- Steam Shovel Match Tuesday

Basketball will be inaugurated on the new Steam Shovel gym floor at 7 o'clock tonight, when the initial battles of the new Marion Steam Shovel league will be fought.

Two games are scheduled for the first night, while the third contest of the league will be staged as a preliminary to the Ohio-Wesleyan skirmish Tuesday night.

Machinists and Apprentices will tie up in the first game and the Foundry cagers and Electricians will meet in the second battle. Engineers and Office will meet in the preliminary to the Steam Shovel game Tuesday night.

The Shovel league is composed of teams and will play all games on Monday and Tuesday nights of each week, continuing until late in February.

All teams have been practicing regularly in the Star Auditorium and the armory and are all set for the new league. Each team must now play from its department only until Jan. 1 when restrictions are removed.

STEAM SHOVELS, OHIO WESLEYAN TO MEET TUESDAY

First Game of Season in New Steam Shovel Gym

One of the best basketball games staged in Marion so far this season may be witnessed at the Steam Shovel gym, at 8 o'clock Tuesday night, when the Steam Shovel independent team tangles with Ohio Wesleyan University in the first contest of the season for both quints.

Ohio Wesleyan comes to Marion with four veterans from last year's outfit, now in the hands of Coach Detrich. Lamme and Berni will be in the forward positions while Eddie Miller will fill one guard post. It has been announced it will be the first game for Ohio Wesleyan, who will meet Ohio State at Columbus Friday night.

The Steam Shovel men are all set for the initial battle with Compton and Bacon, guards; Wilson and Bolger, forwards, and Elmore, center. The Shovelers have held practice sessions for the last two weeks in preparation for the first tilt.

A preliminary contest will be staged between two Shovel League teams.

The sun in which the great American Autumn game of football has been making for the last few weeks will begin to set on Thanksgiving Day; it will disappear entirely two days later with the great Army-Navy game in Chicago, leaving nothing more to the year's history except the selection of the numerous All-American and all-section teams and a few specially arranged contests in which some of the Pacific Coast teams will be pitted against rivals from the East and elsewhere.

Not only will basketball be inaugurated at the gym but volleyball also will take a prominent place in the lives of many sport fans and athletes in the employ of the Steam Shovel Co. who the first volleyball games of the season will be played next Thursday and Friday nights.

The volleyball season opens at 7 o'clock Thursday night when several games will be staged, play continuing on Friday night and continuing until 1927.

PROSPERITY

Good Times are neither an incident nor a dispensation of providence. Prosperity is man-made. Each of us is a worker in the prosperity factory. It is not only our duty but to our interest as well, to keep our home industries running to capacity.

"Make This a Trade-at-Home Christmas." Co-operation can not help but bring prosperity to our city, so let's pull together. Concentrated energies gather force and power. If every one in this city, would SPEND as much as he or she could RIGHT HERE IN TOWN on Christmas Shopping, business would reflect itself in a general boom which would be of profitable advantage to every citizen living in Our Great City.

First—It will benefit YOU by the guarantee of values by merchants whom you know to be absolutely reliable.

Second—Your purchases will greatly increase the buying power of those merchants who are in a position to increase our City's wealth of supplies.

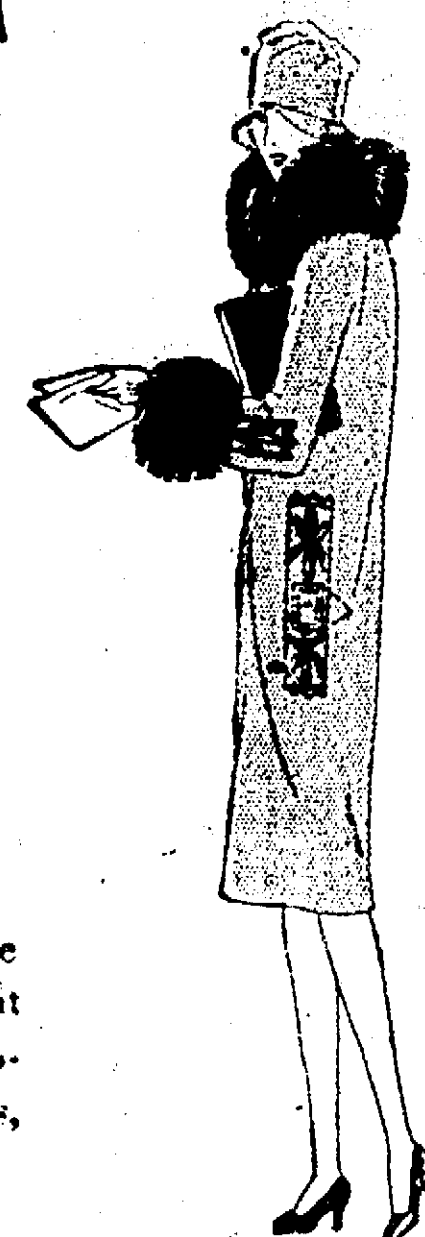

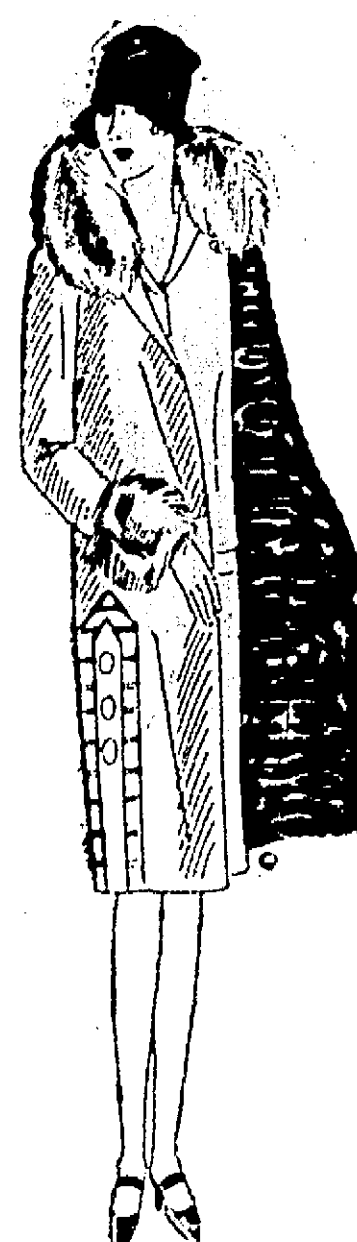

Third—Your purchases at home will help the whole city by increasing every citizen's loyalty, and keeping a natural circulating wealth at home where it belongs.

START RIGHT—Let's all boost the town we live in.
Let's begin our Christmas Shopping here.
